DESCRIPTION

Will International School opened in April 2016 and is growing fast, so we are searching for native teachers to join our team. We would like to give you one month of training before you'll be in charge of your own class. The training period is supposed to be in March 2017 and from April on you will be responsible for your class as its native teacher. Even if you already have experience as a kindergarten teacher we insist upon this training period, because we have a strong sense of teamwork and a good communication with each other is very important to us.

Each native teacher has a Japanese assistant teacher by his side for help and support. Each class is a class in and by itself, but we want to make sure that our curriculums complement each other and we believe that it is good for a new team member to have some time to get used to the new children and environment first, before taking over your own class.

Apart from training we will provide you with a curriculum that we would like to you to follow, while it is up to you, how you would like to teach the topics, what arts and crafts you want to do with your class or what activities you'd like to do. Of course also all necessary materials will be provided by the school and all our native teachers will be happy to share their experiences and materials, as well as ideas.

We're really looking for someone with a positive attitude, who's willing to give their all for their class and who cares not only about a child's English development, but also about their general well-being. Our students are between 1 and 6 years old and what we teach them will have a great impact on their overall development, as well as their education. So first of all we want to see happy kids at school, that enjoy a fun day in an English speaking environment, so that learning English and lessons can be enjoyable for them.

In exchange for your efforts we offer

- a great team you can rely on
- a good salary with two bonuses a year and a yearly pay raise
- Health insurance / pension
- Unemployment insurance
- Transportation up to 10.000 will be reimbursed
- regular working hours from Monday to Friday
